

Dreamers Reality

Trapped between the walls of my dreams
In my dreams I feel safe I feel free
Constantly I'm afraid of the day
So I'm hiding from that world far away

No more peace, no more false safety
Threatening thoughts and the fear of defeat
Something screams from deep within me
Pulls me out from my dreams, far away

I feel the end, feel the dawn
Leaving of my own tiny world
Into the world of mourning
Not safe, not sound
Far away

All the beauty is shifting its shape
And daylight is revealing my fate
Is fuelling my fears of the day
All the worlds I dreamt are fading away

No one will be saving me
From my destiny

Tears are running down my face, I realize that all the beauty was shattered by the light

I want to find my way home back into my dreams
Where I would find my own reality